

FOR PRESIDENT.

JAS. G. BLAINE,
OF MAINE.

FOR VICE PRESIDENT.

JOHN A. LOGAN,
OF ILLINOIS.

TO THE WOOL GROWERS.

The Nevada Wool Growers' Association meets at Winnemucca to-morrow. Although the purposes of the organization are not political, its members cannot fail in their own interests to discuss and perhaps take some action on the tariff question which is of vital importance to them. As to the general proposition as between protection and free trade there can be no question but that the Republican party may be relied upon to protect the wool growing industry while the Democratic party is either in favor of reducing the wool tariff or abolishing it altogether. Now let us see what the comparatively recent records of the two parties in Congress have been on this subject. We quote from authority, and the facts may be readily verified.

In every tariff act passed by the Democratic party when in power the duty on wool was fixed at an ad valorem rate, varying from 24 to 30 per cent., or less than six cents per pound, foreign valuation. The first Republican tariff, that of 1861, fixed the rate at nine cents a pound for wool of the higher grades.

In 1867 the tariff on wool and wools was revised, and after a long struggle, in which the Republican party supported the increase of duty, and the Democratic party opposed it, the duty on foreign wool, which competed with American wool, costing thirty-two cents or less, was put at ten cents a pound, and ten per cent. ad valorem, and on wool costing more than thirty-two cents a pound the duty was twelve cents a pound, and eleven per cent. ad valorem. This act was purely a Republican measure. Every Democrat in the Senate voted against it, and has denounced it ever since.

So it remained until 1881, when the revenue became largely in excess of the wants of the Government, at which time there was a general demand for the reduction of taxes, and a Commission was appointed to report a revision of the tariff. During this time a bill reducing taxes was pending in Congress, and Mr. Bayard, a leading Democrat, on the 5th of August, 1882, offered an amendment reducing the duty on wool to twenty-five per cent., or the equivalent of about four cents specific duty. This was voted for by the Democratic Senators, and defeated by the Republican Senators.

The struggle between the parties on wool was the same as on every other article between a tariff for revenue only, favored by the Democrats, and a protective tariff, favored by the Republicans.

At a later session the Tariff Commission reported a general reduction of the whole tariff, embracing more than one thousand articles, and among others, proposed to repeal the ad valorem tax on wool, retaining only the specific duties of ten and twelve cents a pound on the kind of wool we raise in the United States.

In the interest of the wool-growers of Ohio, and, at the time, urgent request of the Ohio Legislature and of the Wool-Growers' Association, Sherman opposed this reduction, but was willing to submit to some reduction of duty, and offered an amendment to increase the duty to 12 and 14 cents a pound, and dispense with the ad valorem duty. This was entirely satisfactory to the wool-growers, and was a reduction of the old duty of about one cent a pound. It was debated at considerable length, General Logan and Sherman advocating it, and Bayard, Maxey, Beck, and every Democratic Senator who spoke, opposing it, and unfortunately the New England Senators, who wanted cheap wool, voted with them, and the motion was defeated, a majority of the Republicans voting for it, and the Democrats, with only three exceptions, and the New England Senators, voting against it. The amendment was defeated by the Democratic Senators in Congress combining with the New England woolen manufacturers.

The Democrats were opposed to the passage of this bill because, while it relieved the people from seventy-seven millions of taxes annually, internal and external, it still maintained the principles of protection to labor as against a tariff for revenue only. It preserved a tariff on wool higher than ever proposed in a Democratic tariff; higher, far, than any Democratic Congress would think of proposing. Every friend to the protection of wool voted for it, and every enemy to the protection of wool voted against it; not because of the reduction on wool, but because the duty on wool and on all other articles of American production were still, in their opinion, too high for a tariff for revenue only.

It is scarcely necessary to remind the Nevada wool-growers of the efforts in the present Congress at its recent session to secure a reduction of the wool tariff through the instrumentality of the Morrison bill which secured the support of their representative in Congress, Mr. Cassidy. The Morrison bill was beaten, it is true, but only because the party could not agree as to the details of a tariff reduction which nearly all of its members favored. Give that party the power and it will surely abolish the duties on all raw materials under the pretense that they are thereby assisting the manufacturers and through them the labor they employ.

McSWEENEY AGAIN.

Daniel McSweeney, whose case has been more or less referred to in the pending campaign writes a letter to the Monitor from Ireland which goes to show that all that has been said of his active participation in Irish affairs is true. It will be remembered as a portion of the history of McSweeney's case, that some years after his return to Ireland, and while he was holding an office there and taking part in Irish politics, he was arrested for using seditious language, whereupon he claimed to be an American citizen and called for the intervention of this Government in his behalf. The British Government offered him his release, and to pay his expenses if he would return to America, which offer he refused. To show the sort of "American citizen" McSweeney is we quote from his letter under date of August 10, 1881, from Carrow Canon House, Falcarragh, Donegal. He says:

You will undoubtedly have seen by the Irish papers long ere this reaches you, the result of an action for libel, brought against me by the landlords of this district. A brief history of the case which led to this action may not be uninteresting to your readers. On the 18th of March each year, the election of Guardians takes place. Long prior to this date, I had my forces well organized and disciplined with a view to dislodge the landlords from this last stronghold, the Poor House. I nominated, or caused to be nominated, National candidates for every Division in the Union. As you are aware, the election is not by ballot. The policemen go from house to house, distributing the voting papers to the electors, collect them on the following day and hand them over to the Returning Officer. He, of course, being one of the landlord faction, rejected on frivolous grounds, a sufficient number of votes to defeat our candidates. In several of the electoral Divisions where the voters were almost exclusively Nationalists, we were defeated by the Returning Officer simply refusing to place the names of our candidates on the voting papers. A voluminous correspondence ensued with the Local Government Board, that body being composed of the Chief Secretary Trevelyan, Earl Spencer and some other foreigners, the result was as we expected—they answered that they saw no grounds for interference. Despite all the efforts of the landlords, I was returned for the electoral Division in which I reside, and thus found myself alone in the Board-room, confronted by a hostile band of bloated ex-officers, (Magistrates), who, of course, regarded me as an intruder, being the first representative of the people who ever sat in the Board.

Here we have Mr. McSweeney, a full fledged Irish politician, organizing and disciplining forces to dislodge the landlords from political control, nominating National candidates for every division in the Union, and successfully standing as a candidate himself. From the tone of the foregoing extract it would naturally be presumed that he soon had trouble with his colleagues, and such was the fact. He immediately procured access to the columns of the Derry Journal where he "succeeded in exposing the corruption of this villainous gang." From the intemperance of his language he was prosecuted for libel and mulcted in damages and costs about $2,000. Mr. McSweeney has not been successful in his efforts to engraft the politics of the San Francisco sand lot into British institutions. And now we shall await with much interest to learn whether Mr. McSweeney will again produce his naturalization papers and invoke the intervention of the United States in his behalf on the ground that he is an American citizen.

The letter of Mrs. Belva A. Lockwood, candidate for the Presidency against Ben Butler, has been published. A careful reading of the document compels us to announce that she cannot have our support. A lady who will in one sentence advocate "clothing the widows" and in the next expatiate suggestively upon "breaches of trust" can never warm her bustle in the Presidential chair. We regret to note this tendency towards levity on her part, for we always thought Belva was a different sort of a hairpin; but a candidacy for the Presidency seems to expose weaknesses that were unknown before.

The expected deal in Alta is said to be close at hand.

BLAINE AT THE FAIR.

An Eloquent Speech at Manchester, New Hampshire, on the Agricultural Interests of the Country.

MANCHESTER, September 4.—The fourth day of the New England Fair opened with fine weather. James G. Blaine, ex-Governor Smythe, George B. Loring and Mayor Portman entered the grounds at noon, followed by many distinguished citizens. Blaine was received with cheers. George B. Loring introduced Blaine, who spoke as follows:

Ladies and gentlemen.—It is pleasant to find ourselves in an assemblage where all bear a name of higher honor than any partisan designation—an assemblage in which we meet on the broad plane of American citizenship, and rejoice in the title as in itself constituting a civic distinction of priceless value. An agricultural fair is the farmers' parliament. On this day and on this occasion, the most independent class of citizens speak to the world by word and deed for that great fundamental interest in which the Republic rests for its security and its prosperity. It has become a trite saying that agriculture is the basis of all wealth but the full measure of the statement may be comprehended when we remember that in this year of grace, 1884, the total value of the product from farms and flocks in the United States will exceed $3,000,000,000, an amount, brought forth in a single year, vastly in excess of the national debt at its highest point. We are not in the habit of considering New England as especially distinguished for agriculture, and yet the annual product from her soil is greater in value than all the gold taken from the mines of California and Australia in the richest year of their fabulous yield. The farmer is a true and always successful miner in the extraction of money from the earth, a fact most strikingly shown in the history of California, whose splendid march to wealth and power only fairly began when the energies of her people were turned to the production of bread for the world instead of gold. The prodigious consumption of 56,000,000 people is brought strikingly before us when we realize how vast a proportion of our aggregate product is used at home, and how small a share is sent abroad. One hundred and odd millions of New England farm products do not support her own people, and they are compelled to exchange the fruits of their mechanical industry to an enormous amount annually for the means of subsistence so lavishly outpoured from granaries more fertile in the West, and this fact is but one of many which show the independence of our people and the vast extent of our internal exchanges. The scene to-day has enhanced interest when we reflect that throughout the gorgeous Autumn upon which we have just entered will be reproduced, in countless communities throughout our land, from ocean to ocean, from Northern lake to Southern gulf, a richness of harvest and a contentment and happiness of the people, on fields as fair and by displays as brilliant as those which now delight our eyes and gladden our hearts. Nor will Autumn exhaust its inspiring scenes. When the chill of Winter on the Northern border of the Union shall make the Southern sun seem genial and welcome, our brethren of the cotton region will continue the wondrous story. They invite us to witness, in the commercial emporium of the South, the great triumph of Southern agriculture in the production of that single plant which has revolutionized manufactures and has enriched the United States beyond the reach of imagination, and has added incidentally to the comfort, health and luxury of the human race. Standing as I do in the fair New England States, it is an agreeable duty to extend congratulations to New England farmers on the results of this year's labor and on the general and important fact that at no period in the history of New England husbandry has intelligent labor been blessed with more profitable results than during the present generation. If there be any one that doubts this, I wish he were here to-day and could hear what I have heard and see what I have seen. [Applause.] I heartily congratulate the New England Society on the brilliant success of this exhibition, and beg to return my sincere thanks to all for the personal kindness and cordiality with which I have been honored.

At the conclusion of Blaine's remarks he was given three cheers by the crowd, to which he bowed his acknowledgments.

Fatality in Palatial Residences.

The Sun's Washington special says: Photographs of Blaine's hundred thousand-dollar palace have been taken, and are now being distributed throughout Maine and the New England States. The object is to show how members of Congress can accumulate money and build for themselves palatial mansions on a salary of $5,000. Blaine has rented a house which is said to be the most elaborately furnished in the country for $1,300. One of the most effective arguments, whether true or false, which operated to the defeat of Windom two years ago, was a like distribution of photographic copies of his imposing mansion. Robeson, of New Jersey, was similarly remembered when a candidate for re-election. There seems to be a fatality about the political futures of all the statesmen who have built for themselves elegant homes. Pendleton, of Ohio, retired hardly a year ago. The indications are that Don Cameron will follow at the expiration of his Senatorial term. Each is the owner of a residence in that quarter of Washington considered ultra-fashionable, owing to the proximity of the residence of the British Minister.

President Hall and other wool growers will leave to-morrow morning to attend the meeting of the Wool Growers Association at Winnemucca.

A "Herald" Dodger.

The Herald prints in a dozen different places the following: We understand the colored vote of New York is solid for Blaine, with a few disaffected ones; but Butler and all the Democratic papers pretend to be elated this morning with what they call the shrinkage in the Republican majority in Vermont.

AMSTERDAM (N. Y.).—St. Mary's Institute, a journal edited by Father McInerow, demands Cleveland's withdrawal in favor of Seymour. It denounces Cleveland's candidacy as an insult to Christianity.

TOWN AND COUNTRY.

BREVITIES.

Everything is very quiet around town. T. F. Laycock has gone to Santa Cruz for a week.

There are at present 156 patients in the Nevada Insane Asylum.

Major Hunt and Frank Merrill, of Peavine, were in town yesterday.

J. C. Terry, traveling agent for Price's baking powders, spent yesterday in Reno.

Ed Dalton, Long Valley, was in town yesterday on some matters pertaining to the Ross estate.

G. W. Meylert's team came in from Lassen yesterday with the first new wheat of the season.

The weather was uncomfortably cold yesterday, and brisk fires were kept up in most of the business houses.

Some of the young ladies of Bishop Whitaker's school had a private picnic at Poor's ranch yesterday afternoon.

A new and splendidly ornamented cut-glass globe adorns the front entrance to the billiard parlors of Thyges & Co.

James Orr, ex-President of the Virginia Miners' Union, was in Reno yesterday, looking after matters for the grand picnic to-day.

Miss Lahering, of Quincy, came in from the north yesterday on her way to California. She will remain in Reno a few days visiting friends.

Mrs. Robert Johnson and two children, of Susanville, left for the East Friday evening via the Southern route, to be gone about three months.

Notwithstanding the inclemency of the weather there was a good turnout and a very pleasant time at the lawn social at Dr. Wagar's Friday evening.

Alex Wise, of Winnemucca, a delegate to the Republican State Convention, passed yesterday in Reno visiting his daughter, who is attending school at Mt. St. Mary's Academy.

Mrs. F. S. Walrod will leave Reno Monday morning for Spring City, Humboldt county, on a visit to her son Willie, who is bookkeeper for the Paradise Mining Company.

W. J. Bryant, who was brought over from Sacramento last week on a charge of forgery, had a hearing before Justice Young yesterday and was held to answer with bail fixed at $1,000.

Miss Florence Golding, of Oroville, returned yesterday from Susanville en route home. She will remain in Reno a few days visiting Miss Fredrick, Misses Barnes and other young lady friends.

All kinds of vegetation was more or less injured by the frost Friday night. In many parts of town ice formed fully an eighth of an inch thick. Tomatoes and other tender vegetables were entirely destroyed.

W. J. Penrose, the wide-awake editor of the Eureka Lender, was in town yesterday, and visited the principal places of interest, not forgetting to take in the camp-meeting, and "crank" dance at the Asylum last evening.

If special rates are offered over the railroads there are at least a hundred people in Nevada who will attend the great exposition at New Orleans. It promises to greatly excel the Centennial Exposition at Philadelphia in 1876.

The Indians on the Pyramid Indian Reservation came in yesterday with three wagon loads of wheat, a portion of this year's crop raised by the Indians themselves on the Pyramid Reservation. They sold the whole lot to A. J. Clark.

A potato, says Dan De Quille, weighing two pounds and a half was recently brought down from Washington Territory as a production to astound Nevada. One of our ranchmen rolled it in cotton and laid it away to sleep in the eye of a Nevada spud.

The sudden change of weather will necessitate the starting of fire in stoves that have been idle all Summer. Every one should make it a point to see that stovepipes and flues are in proper condition. It would be a sorry blow to burn the town at this season of the year.

Tom Brown, the unfortunate man who lost a leg at the Wadsworth fire last Spring, is now getting along nicely and hopes in a short time to be able to leave the hospital. Poor Tom has had a tough time of it. The wound healed very slowly, and several times his life was in danger from blood poisoning.

The Miners' Union Picnic.

To-day (Sunday) there will be a grand exodus from the Comstock to Steamboat Springs on the occasion of the Miners' Union picnic. Fourteen cars will leave Virginia City, and several will be added to the train at stations on the way. The Superintendents of the mines will allow all their men to go except enough men to keep the pumps running and to do other work that is absolutely necessary. As it is the closing picnic of the season all lovers of sport will desire to attend. Refreshments of all kinds will be sold on the grounds at Comstock prices. No gambling will be permitted on the grounds, and the Sheriff of Washoe county will take particular care to see that this order is strictly enforced. Arrangements have also been made to promptly put down all rowdiness both on the grounds and on the excursion train. Professor Carr's band will accompany the excursionists, and will furnish music for the dancers at the pavilion. A splendid list of prizes is offered for all kinds of matches and games.

Talent Coming.

Marcus R. Mayer passed through on the west-bound train on Friday evening from London which village he left on the 18th ultimo. He comes to this Coast as the Manager for Henry Irving, who will probably play in San Francisco in January, with Miss Terry and a large company with all the scenery they used at the Lyceum Theater in London. He will only play in San Francisco, his repertoire comprising Hamlet, Much Ado About Nothing, Merchant of Venice, Twelfth Night, Lyons Mail, The Bells, and Louis XI. Miss Mary Anderson, who has made a great success in London, will also appear in San Francisco in January. It is probable also, that Mr. Mayer will bring out Mme Theo, the great opera bouffe artist.

The Sherman Mines.

Farmer Burke and Dr. Brooks, of White Pine county, arrived in Reno Friday evening. Both gentlemen are largely interested with James Burke in his mines in Sherman District. They are here for the purpose of arranging to erect hoisting works on the mine and to prosecute the work of development on a more extensive and systematic scale. The developments at the bottom of the 80-foot shaft was wonderfully encouraging. The ore body had just been cut when the miners were driven out of the shaft by water. It is the intention now to erect proper hoisting works and put in a pump so as to avoid further interruption.

Musical Entertainment.

Professor J. M. Wood, well known to the people of Reno, will give a vocal and instrumental musical entertainment in Reno, on some evening next week not yet determined upon. The Professor is well and favorably known here, having appeared here with a blind troupe in 1872, and with other companies on subsequent occasions. He is unfortunately blind, and will be assisted by a local corps, which is now practicing for the performance.

Princess Sarah.

The Piute Princess, Sarah Winnemucca, will lecture at Nevada Theatre to-morrow night on the subject of "The people I saw in the East." The Princess was quite successful in her lecturing tour in the East, drawing crowded houses wherever she went. The admission fee is only 25 cents, and no extra charge for reserved seats.

The Picnic.

Four car-loads of children and adults attended the Sunday School picnic over the N. & O. yesterday. The day was rather cold but the little folks were comfortably clad and enjoyed the ride and the entertainment hugely. The trip was made out and back without accident, and all had a jolly good time.

Off for the Fair.

Johnny Cannon and family, Bob Parry, of the Depot Hotel, and several others will leave to-night for Sacramento to take in the State Fair. Mr. Cannon and family, after taking in the sights at Sacramento, will visit other places of interest in California and expect to be gone about a month.

District Court.

Yesterday was quite a busy day in Court. Several motions were argued and disposed of, and considerable work was done in the way of settling up probate matters. The calendar was called and most of the cases at issue were set down for trial. A Grand and Trial Jury will probably be called sometime during the month.

James Dunne, the wide awake sheep man, has returned from the Tuscarora country where he went last Spring with a band of sheep. He sold his herd to good advantage and will remain in Reno during the Winter and strike out again in the Spring. Jimmy says Blaine is on top in Eastern Nevada.

A. C. Cleveland and Hon. Thos. Wron passed yesterday in Reno. In the afternoon they visited the Insane Asylum, and were both surprised and pleased to find so fine a building and the inmates so well provided for.

SUFFERINGS OF THE GREELY EXPLORERS.

Official Report of the Surgeon of the Thetis—Condition of Greely.

The Medical News will contain this week the official report of Dr. Edward H. Green, United States Surgeon of the Thetis of the Greely Relief Squadron, on the condition of the survivors from a pathological point of view, when they were rescued. The following is among the results of his investigation, "There seemed to be but little acute suffering from the lack of food. It was only after the introduction of food into the stomach that the craving became great. For days they went without food without actually suffering. Death seemed to take place from the heart trouble. The feet and face became swollen, and for a day or so they would complain of a pain over the heart, then they were slight general convulsions, and all would be over. The chief suffering during the winter was from constipation. There is not a word of suggestion in the report of the alleged cannibalism." It says of Greely's condition, when he was found: "His disease was asthenia and on admission to the hospital he fainted, which was followed by vomiting. Spirits of ammonia were administered, and renewed in ten minutes; placed him in a berth, and gave him a teaspoonful of raw, fresh beef, minced. His clothes were carefully cut from him and heavy red flannels, previously warmed, substituted. His body emitted a sickly, offensive odor, and was emaciated to such a degree that the skin was hanging from his limbs in flakes. His face, hands and scalp were blackened with a crust of soot and dirt, he having not washed or changed clothing for ten months.

The Fight to be Transferred to Ohio.

The New York Star (Kelly's organ) prints the special of a Washington correspondent of the Cincinnati Enquirer, who, after interviewing Dana and others, concluded, "If I should be broadly asked the result of my conclusions, I would say the outlook here is not hopeful. In no quarter are there indications such as point to a reconciliation of the Democratic factions in New York, and if they are not brought together the loss of the State is conceded, not alone by the Republicans, but by the Democrats, who are zealously putting their shoulders to the wheel to compass Cleveland's election. The east of the divide in Ohio. Ohio can save Cleveland and throw the tide in the Empire State. The National Democratic Convention is beginning to awaken to the full realization of this, and immediate plans for a great battle in the State is to be formulated." The Star says: The correspondent's conclusions agree substantially with ours. Unless the Democrats carry Ohio next month, the whole battle will be lost, for it is only by a signal victory there that the shadow of a fighting chance will be left them for any Northern State, except, perhaps, Indiana. On the other hand it is by no means impossible that the Republicans will carry Ohio in November, after losing it in October. These are facts, and it is useless to disguise or misrepresent them.

Mysterious Political Movements.

The Sun's Albany special of the 30th says: Young Hamilton Harris and other Half-breed quid nuncs are in a panic. They have tracked George C. Gorham, who was on his way to visit Roscoe Conkling, to the Executive Chamber. The announcement of the Half-breeds that Roscoe Conkling would not trade speeches for Blaine for votes for Senator, is interpreted as having a deeper significance than at first appeared. These are clues that the Half-breeds have succeeded in weaving into an harmonious whole: John E. Smythe visited Conkling in New York; Smythe came to Albany; Conkling went to Utica; Gorham came to Albany; Smythe and Gorham saw Cleveland; Gorham is to see Conkling. The interview between Gorham, Smythe and Cleveland to-day lasted thirty-five minutes. None of the participants would say a word about it last night.

The Democratic primary election at Wadsworth resulted in the election of Messrs. Bailey, Cassidy, Gregory and Nichols, as delegates to the Democratic County Convention which meets in Reno next Saturday.

A corps of blacksmiths with J. L. McFarlin at the head were engaged yesterday, tamping the iron doors in the Horn building. Mr. Horn hopes to be able to complete the building by the 20th of this month.

The cold weather will in no wise effect the Pacific beer, hot lunches, or other luxuries at George Beckers. The true business will always be found at the Granite Saloon.

Bill Campbell is building up the Lafayette House. To know Bill is to stay with him, and any kind of a raise on the board bill.

WESTFIELD, Mass., Feb. 18, 1882.

Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co.—Gentlemen: About five years ago I had a very bad cough, and tried several remedies without any relief, until I was advised by Mr. Whitney, druggist of Gouverneur, N. Y., to try your Cherry Pectoral, which I did, and before I had taken half a bottle, I was entirely cured.

Yours, &c.,

CHARLES MEACHAM.

IT LEADS ALL.

No other blood-purifying medicine is made, or has ever been prepared, which so completely meets the wants of physicians and the general public as

Ayer's Sarsaparilla.

It leads the list as a truly scientific preparation for all blood diseases. If there is a lurking taint of Scrofula about you, AYER'S SARSAPARILLA will dislodge it and expel it from your system. For constitutional or scrofulous Catarrh, AYER'S SARSAPARILLA is the true remedy. It has cured numberless cases. It will stop the nauseous catarrhal discharge, and remove the sickening odor of the breath, which are indications of scrofulous origin.

"Hutto, Tex., Sept. 28, 1882."
ULCEROUS "At the age of two years one of my children was terribly afflicted with ulcerous running sores on its face and neck. At the same time its eyes were swollen, much inflamed, and very sore. Physicians told us that a powerful alterative medicine must be employed. They united in recommending AYER'S SARSAPARILLA. A few doses produced a perceptible improvement, which, by an adherence to your directions, was continued to a complete and permanent cure. No evidence has since appeared of the existence of any scrofulous tendencies; and no treatment of any disorder was ever attended by more prompt or effectual results."
Yours truly,
B. F. JOHNSON.

Platform of the National Republican Party

The Republic of the United States, in National Convention assembled, renew their allegiance to the principles upon which they have triumphed in six successive Presidential elections and congratulate the American people on the attainment of so many results in the legislation and administration, by which the Republic has been saved from the Union, and so much to render its institutions just, equal and beneficent, the safeguard of liberty and the embodiment of the best thought and highest purposes of our citizens. The Republican party has gained its strength by a quick and faithful response to the demands of the people for freedom and equality of all men for a united nation, assuring the rights of all citizens for the elevation of labor, for an honest currency, for purity in legislation and for integrity and accountability in all the departments of the Government, and it accepts anew the duty of leading in the work of progress and reform.

Political Platform of the Republican Party of the State of Nevada

Resolved, That the wise, considerate and judicious administration of President Arthur commends itself to the entire confidence and respect of the American people.

Resolved, That the Republican party has at all times been, and still is, the friend and protector of labor, and as such considers the duty of policy as will protect and foster the interests and dignity of labor which have characterized its history for more than a quarter of a century.
